About ALJBS

American Legion Jersey Boys State is a citizenship and leadership-training program held annually in June for high school students who have completed their junior year. ALJBS is among the most respected and selective educational programs of its kind for high school students in the entire country. It is a participatory program where each delegate becomes part of running his local, county and state government. Though the program has national roots dating back to 1935, ALJBS came to New Jersey in 1946 and has been held every year since

At American Legion Jersey Boys State, participants are exposed to the rights, privileges, duties and responsibilities of a franchised citizen. The training is objective and practical with city, county and state governments operated by the statesmen elected and appointed to the various offices and positions. Activities include elections, debates, council meetings, legislative sessions, court proceedings, career seminars, speeches from top New Jerseyans, band, chorus and organized athletic programs.

Top high school juniors are selected by local American Legion Posts to attend the program from all across the State of New Jersey. In most cases, the sponsoring American Legion Post, a local business or another community-based organization pays the expenses associated with sending a delegate to this outstanding program.

ALJBS, sponsored by the American Legion Department of New Jersey, has a strong tradition of education, patriotism and excellence in the development of tomorrow's leaders at our weeklong hands-on program. Each year, over 850 high school juniors attend the program. Sponsored by the American Legion, the program leadership strives to be a college-level seminar complete with a college fair, keynote speakers and various daily seminars that focus on topics from law enforcement and careers in politics to medicine and public administration.
